

TABLE OF CONTENTS

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY	3
1.INTRODUCTION	9
1.1.Background to the Policy Debate	9
1.2.Purpose of the Study	10
1.3.Methodology	12
1.4.Components of the Study	13
2.THE AGRICULTURAL POLICY ENVIRONMENT IN TURKEY	17
2.1.The Importance of Agriculture to the Turkish Economy	17
2.2.The Supply of Agricultural Products	20
2.3.The Demand for Agricultural Products	21
2.4.Foreign Trade in Agricultural Commodities	22
2.5.Farm Household Incomes	23
2.6.Agricultural Policies in Turkey	28
3.AN AGENDA FOR THE ANALYSIS OF TURKISH AGRICULTURAL POLICIES	32
3.1.Policy Goals	32
3.2.The stated goals of Turkish agricultural policy	32
3.3.Reasons for Policy Intervention	33
3.4.The economic objectives of Turkish agricultural policy	35
3.7.Social dimension of agricultural policy intervention	36
3.8.Policy goals and an agenda for analysis	37
3.9.The efficiency of current policies in achieving social goals	38
3.10.Transfer efficiency analysis	38
3.11.Explicit Versus Implicit Policy Goals	42
3.12.Conclusion: An Agenda for Policy Analysis	44
4.THE SOCIAL ACCOUNTING MATRIX FOR TURKEY	46
4.1.The Social Accounting Matrix Methodology	46
4.2.Incorporating Policy Responses into the SAM	53
4.3.Model Specification (Structure of the SAM)	54
4.4.Data Sources for the SAM Accounts	57
4.5.Specific Assumptions Underlying the 1995 Social Accounting Matrix	58
4.6.Analysis of Turkish Agricultural Policy using the SAM	63
4.7.Summary	64
5.RESULTS	65
5.1.Principal characteristics of the 1995 SAM	65
5.2.The Disaggregated SAM	67
5.3.Multipliers	69
5.4.The contrasting income effects of agricultural support policies and direct payments to households	70
5.5.Summary	75
6.SUMMARY AND CONCLUSIONS	76
6.1.Main Findings: The Distribution of Policy Benefits	76
6.2.Other Attributes of the SAM	77
6.3.Policy Implications	78
6.4.Implications for Future Work	80
REFERENCES	83
APPENDIX	86